DISCOVER YOUR CITY WITH Culture Pass

As a New York Public Library card holder, you already know that your library card gives you access to a stunning variety of books, research materials, and so much more. And starting today, your library card gives you access to even more thanks to Culture Pass, a new service that allows you to visit dozens of cultural institutions around the city for free. Through Culture Pass, you can reserve free passes to dozens of museums and cultural institutions around the city.

Simply visit culturepass.nyc, select The New York Public Library, enter your library card barcode and pin, then choose from the variety of participating institutions and select when you'd like to visit. You can borrow passes for dates between two and three months in advance (depending on availability), and can have two pending reservations at any given time. After reserving a pass -- for two or four people -- you can print your pass at home or at your local library, or select the mobile option, and show the reservation confirmation on your phone.

Cultural institutions currently participating in Culture Pass include the following, but more will be added on an ongoing basis:

- Brooklyn Botanic Garden
- Brooklyn Children's Museum
- Brooklyn Historical Society
- Brooklyn Museum
- Children's Museum of Manhattan
- Children's Museum of the Arts
- Cooper Hewitt, Smithsonian Design Museum

Make a Culture Pass Reservation

To get started, visit the Culture Pass website and follow these steps:

1. Under 'Reserve a Pass,' select New York Public Library Cardholders.
2. Log in to the Culture Pass reservation system using your library card barcode/username and pin.
3. Browse available passes by date, venue or location. Each pass will offer free entry for either two or four people; please read the details carefully.
4. Make a reservation.
5. Retrieve your pass shortly before your visit. (Once you print or download your pass, you cannot cancel your reservation.) You must show ID when redeeming Culture Pass.

EXPLORE CULTURE PASS

The role of public libraries for over 100 years is to make information, knowledge, and opportunity accessible to all. Culture Pass is certainly an extension of that mission and we hope you enjoy this new resource.

Thank you,

Christopher Platt
The New York Public Library

Only cardholders over 13 who have a valid library card are eligible for Culture Pass. If you applied for your library card online or through SimplyE and do not yet have a physical library card, or if your card has expired, please visit one of our locations with a valid form of ID to receive or renew your card.

Support for Culture Pass is provided by The New York Community Trust, Charles H. Revson Foundation and Stavros Niarchos Foundation.
